It's A Woman's World

MISS JUNE ATTAWAY WEDS JACK TILLMAN

The terrace of the beautiful Georgian type home of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Attaway on College Boulevard was the scene Friday, September 17, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss June Attaway, to Jack Brunson Tillman, son of Mrs. Grant Tillman and the late Mr. Tillman.

The double ring ceremony was performed at twilight by Rev. L. P. Glass, of Fairburn, before a background of fern trees, palms and trailing smilax over the arched doorway, in the presence of friends and relatives grouped on the expansive lawn. The wrought iron balustrade enclosing the terrace had lovely bouquets of white dahlias and chrysanthemums tied with white satin ribbons attached to the railing.

The wedding music was presented by Frank Rushing, organist, and Miss Beverly Colburn, of Narrows, Ga., college friend of the bride, soloist. Miss Colburn sang "Thine Alone" and "You're My Heart Alone." Miss Ann Attaway, twin sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were her sisters, Misses Nancy and Josephine Attaway, Louise Wilson and Dorothy Jane Hodges. The dresses of the attendants were fashioned alike from pastel shades of marquisette over tulle with fitted bodices and off-shoulder necklines formed by wide, draped shirred at intervals to form a scalloped effect. Their full skirts were posed over hoops and caught up with tiny bows of the material to display ruffled petticoats. All wore picture hats of horsehair braid featuring velvet ribbons and sprays of tulips in pastel shades matching their dresses. Their old fashioned lace encircled nosegays were of mixed garden flowers with the predominant colors in each matching the attendants' dresses, which were fuchsia, lemon, coral, ice blue, mint green and pale pink.

Ring bearers were Billy Attaway, brother of the bride, and Madelyn Waters, niece of the groom. Billy was dressed like the groomsmen and Madelyn's white marquisette was fashioned like that of the lady attendants. She wore a bandeau of small white chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Grant Tillman, as best man. Groomsmen were Emory Bohler, Dick Tillman of Claxton, Lamar Trappnell and Frank Simmons Jr.

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the radiant bride wore a gown of tulle and lace with long sleeves coming to a point over the hands and a marquisette yoke which fastened down the back with small covered buttons. Folds of marquisette were crushed at the bottom of the yoke, simulating fashionable de-lacorte. The full marquisette skirt, poised over hoops, was caught up in front, revealing a ruffled petticoat, and extended in the back to form a graceful train. The fingertip veil of illusion was three-tiered and fell from a tiara of pearl-encrusted orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of stephanotis and was centered with a purple-throated white orchid.

The bride's mother wore a black and white gown with a white orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Following their brief wedding trip, they will return to Athens, where the groom is studying for a degree in business administration at the University of Georgia.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones, Captain H. W. Collins, Mrs. Louise Altman, Mrs. Lillian Mae Williams, Edna Williams, Mae E. Henderson and Rebecca Franklin, of Atlanta; Mrs. Ray Williams, of Marietta; Mrs. L. B. Colburn, Miss Beverly Colburn and Hank Fulgrave, of Narrows, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blue, Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. Colley Tillman, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Tillman, Miss Lorena Tillman and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tillman, all of Claxton.

The altar decorations were baskets of white dahlias and white gladioli against a background of cathedral candelabra holding white tapers. Ushers were Ben Robert Nesmith and John Newton.

The bride was lovely in a teal blue suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

The bride's mother wore a becoming green gown with yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore black crepe with a corsage of pink carnations.

Among out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brannen, of Metter; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, of Macon; Mr. and Mrs. George Franklin Sr. and Mrs. T. E. Kiberry and Mrs. Davis, of Pulaski.

Me and Mrs. Howard left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Jacksonville. They will occupy an apartment at the home of the groom's parents. Mr. Howard will be connected with the Howard Lumber Company.

ELABORATE LUNCHEON CLIMAXES PARTIES FOR POPULAR BRIDE-ELECT

On Friday Miss June Attaway and her attendants, members of the immediate families, and out-of-town guests were honored at an elaborate luncheon given by Mrs. Jim Donaldson, Mrs. Percy Averitt and Mrs. Devane Watson at the Donaldson home on Zetterow avenue.

Arrangements of white flowers adorned the living room. The bride's table introduced the motif of green and white in graceful formality. The table, overlaid with a Madeira outwork cloth, was centered with an oblong, handcrafted crystal bowl filled with white dahlias combined with white button chrysanthemum and fern. Diagonal arrangements marked the corners of the table. Bed and groom candles in crystal holders marked the left front and a three branched crystal candelabrum holding white tapers, from which narrow satin ribbons cascaded with clusters of button chrysanthemums caught at intervals, gave interest to the other end of the table. The place cards were miniature nosegays.

The four-course luncheon, dainty and appetizing, adhered to the bride's theme—grapefruit cocktail with green cherry, green tinted pear topped with white cream cheese and green cherry, the main dish of creamed chicken in heart timbales, green peas and mushrooms en casserole. Strips of raw vegetables centered with green olives made an artistic and colorful platter. Hot rolls and butter, iced tea with a dessert course of lime sherbet served with individual cakes iced in green and embellished with white flowers.

Ladies' high, a silver pocket-book pencil, was won by Mrs. Paul Sauve, who also won ladies' cut, a milk glass flower bowl. Men's high, a key case, went to Charlie Joe Matthews. A tie went to Charles Olliff for cut.

Those playing were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olliff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoak, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Joe Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sauve, Horace McDougald, Mary Sue Atkins, Buford Knight and Tolson DuBoise.

CHARLOTTE LANE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

On Thursday afternoon, September 16, Mrs. Curtis Lane entertained for her daughter Charlotte, who was celebrating her fourth birthday. The party assembled fifty-five guests at Sue's Kindergarten. Favors were packs of chewing gum, and they were served ice cream, birthday cake and Coca-Cola. The birthday cake was a lovely two-tiered affair iced in pink and green, with circus animal candle holders.

FOSS-HOWARD

Miss Betty Jean Foss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Foss, of Pulaski, became the bride of Jerry Wilson Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard, Friday afternoon at the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church with Elder V. F. Agan officiating.

Only members of the immediate families were present. Mrs. E. L. Barnes, organist, played the wedding music and the bride and groom came down the aisle together.
